WHO WE ARE & HOW WE BUILD...

As a family owned and operated business, we focus on building strong partnerships with our homeowners to ensure the creation of a home that is tailored to the individual. We are proud to have established our business predominantly from customer referrals.

The homeowners' satisfaction and pride of ownership are of utmost importance to our family. Every effort is made to create and maintain the highest level of trust and confidence. Hill Country Custom Homes prides itself on providing a level of customer service and quality of construction well beyond industry standards.

Our staff personally oversee each phase of construction, striving for excellence at all times. Forethought and meticulous care ensures that each home is built to a superior standard with extreme attention to detail.

Our open book building process allows the homeowner full access to all of the bids, bills, payments and reports. The contractor's discount pricing is also passed through to the homeowner. A competitive bid process among top quality sub-contractors and suppliers ensures the highest quality of construction at the best price. Furthermore, an established set building fee allows flexibility in changes and upgrades without additional charges from the builder.

We share your joy in watching your home being built from the ground up, and we desire your input and guidance. As such, you are welcome at your home's job site at all times. We look forward to working with you.
