ENDORSEMENTS

“While living over a thousand miles away in Cincinnati, Ohio, my husband and I entered into a construction contract with the J. Allen Construction Company to build our retirement dream house. Jerry’s attention to detail is absolutely meticulous and he employs craftsmen of the highest caliber. Jerry is a man of outstanding capability and integrity. His reputation in this community is impeccable and he is extraordinarily well-respected by his clients, his suppliers, and his subordinates. We feel extremely fortunate to have had the J. Allen Construction Company as our builder and we are very impressed by the quality of the home that Jerry has built for us.”

- Donna Hanks and Thom Sibilsky

“Jerry Allen proved himself to be a very knowledgeable builder, assisting us in every stage of the building process. We particularly appreciated his attention to detail, practical recommendations and personal supervision of the construction. He was highly visible on the site as well as easily accessible to us. The subcontractors also shared in the goal of constructing a house that would be exactly what we wanted. Jerry Allen’s contagious enthusiasm and high quality standards made the experience of building a home surpass all expectations.”

-Sean and Anne Tynan

ABOUT J. ALLEN CONSTRUCTION

Jerry Allen has been in the construction business for over twenty-five years. His firm, J. Allen Construction Company, specializes in the creation of custom, crafted homes. Jerry takes a great deal of pride in his work and his reputation, and makes sure each home is built with top quality products and workmanship and that each homeowner is 100% satisfied.

Jerry Allen has built a reputation as a talented and reliable builder. He enjoys incredible relationships with proud homeowners and some of Northern Colorado’s best subcontractors. The company places an emphasis on transparency, and makes 100% of all bids open to customer review.

Jerry is personally involved with all aspects of the construction process, from the first meeting until well after the completion of the house. He works hands-on not just with the homeowners, the designer/architect, and the engineers, but also with each and every subcontractor. He builds a strong working relationship with each homeowner through numerous meetings and personally overseeing the entire construction process until the home is completed.

Jerry readily takes care of any problems or corrections that need fixing long after the project is completed, and he employs subcontractors that have the same work ethic to ensure quality construction. He is very detail-oriented and in 2001 was recognized by the Larimer County Building Department for his excellence and “outstanding professionalism in the building process.”

Jerry is fully insured and is licensed to build in the City of Fort Collins, the City of Loveland, the Town of Timnath, and the Town of Wellington.
